

SPEAKER AGREEMENT

The Princeton Theological Seminary (“PTS”) is pleased that you have agreed to make a presentation at the upcoming program (the “Program”):

_____ on _____.
(Program title) (Program date)

PTS is not asking that you transfer any rights, but PTS is interested in acquiring certain nonexclusive rights in the material that you provide and the remarks you make (collectively, the “Work”).

Grant of Rights:

I hereby grant to PTS the following nonexclusive rights:

1. The right to record my presentation and to make copies of those recordings, and/or edited transcriptions of the recordings, available to students and to others interested in the topics being covered. I further grant permission to record, edit, transcribe, duplicate, distribute, transmit, broadcast, publicly display and publicly perform recordings and/or other copies of the Work, in whole or in part, and to post the Work on the PTS website; and
2. The right to use my name as well as my photograph and biographical information, as I have provided and/or approved in connection with the Program and/or the Work.

Except as set forth in this Agreement, I retain all rights in the Work.

Warranties:

I warrant (a) that the Work is original with me, except to the extent that it may include material in the public domain and/or material used pursuant to a license or other authorization from one or more third parties; (b) that publication of copies of the Work will not infringe on the rights of any third parties; and (c) that I have full power to make this grant which does not conflict with any other grant made or with any other agreement that I have entered into.

If the foregoing terms are satisfactory, please sign and date this agreement.
